

Pallisa Children's Concern Project (PCCP)

Uganda has 2 million orphans. Most of them lost their parents through war, disease and AIDS. Pallisa Children's Concern Project (PCCP) provides essential care for orphans in East Uganda. PCCP receives no funding from aid organisations or governments and is supported entirely by 'The Friends of PCCP', a small UK registered charity.

PCCP has so far provided each child with a goat, food, blankets, basic healthcare and education. Our goal is to develop a proper school for the children.

By paying for the roof on this new school, Eutopia is making a practical difference to Uganda's orphans. Please read the next page to see how you can help too.

“Half the battle isn't doing something good - its just doing SOMETHING. Making any contribution at all will make a difference. Please do not underestimate the effect on the children of sponsoring them. By sponsoring a child's education, food or health, your involvement brings them hope and motivation and is greatly appreciated.” Robby Keen - Director of PCCP Uganda

us to build our school.”*

What can you do to help

Rather than sending us a Christmas card this year, please consider donating something to this worthwhile cause. You will be helping to secure a positive future for these children.

Or maybe you could ask your employer if they would consider PCCP as their sponsored charity for 2005. Perhaps you could refer any organisation to PCCP that provides advice, support, funding or assistance of any description. In the competitive world for charitable funding, PCCP is desperate for help of any kind.

Eutopia's contact on the ground in Uganda is Robby Keen – an independent volunteer, on a two year secondment in Uganda – sponsored by his friends, family and church.

You can also email messages of support to Robby at robbykeen@hotmail.com

Alternatively, please make a donation by sending a cheque or P/O to: The Treasurer, The Friends of PCCP, 24 Crabble Lane, River, Dover, Kent CT17 0LS

Schooling in Uganda

- Only primary school education is free in Uganda and the average class size is 200 children to 1 teacher.
- Most children from the villages where PCCP operate hardly learn anything at school - primarily because of the class sizes and the lessons are conducted in English (very few speak it well).
- With no parents, these children have no real chance of further education – with no education, they have no real prospects - and no real hope.

PCCP School

- PCCP's most ambitious project to date is the building of a secondary school - in a county of 25,000 people where there are no secondary schools. The school will cater for 600 students.
- The students will be given an academic grounding and trained in essential life skills including agriculture.
- The school will also be used for vocational training, and at evenings and weekends for the local community.
- PCCP has already acquired an on-site borehole for clean water for the local community.
